Statement

No trade interruption for all classes of live cattle between Canada and the US

March 18, 2020

Calgary, AB

The Canadian Cattlemen's Association (CCA), industry stakeholders and the Government of Canada are dedicated to maintaining business continuity including live cattle trade between Canada and the US during the COVID-19 outbreak.

There have been no trade interruptions for all classes of live cattle between Canada and the US or to other aspects of the beef supply chain. All stakeholders are working to ensure that live cattle trade continues uninterrupted between the two countries.

We encourage exporters and importers to contact CCA if any issues arise, so they can be addressed immediately.
